University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va has a position open for a Tenured Full Professor in the area of Cyber-Physical Systems

The School of Engineering and Applied Science at the University of Virginia (UVA) invites applications for a tenured full professor faculty appointment in the area of Cyber-Physical Systems. The primary appointment will be in the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering (ECE), but the successful candidate is expected to play a dual role in ECE and the school-wide Link Lab (LL) – a focal point of cross-disciplinary research in Cyber-Physical Systems. The intent is to bring in a dynamic leader with a distinguished track record and the vision/momentum that will leverage existing strengths in ECE and the LL to aim even higher. The successful candidate will be one of the core faculty in the Link Lab and the Computer Engineering program within ECE, and will be expected to build and sustain a rapidly growing and highly visible research program in the broad CPS area. Optional secondary appointment in another Engineering department can also be considered, if relevant. Specific areas of interest include but are not limited to CPS for health and ageing, autonomous CPS, embedded CPS, CPS integration, and networked CPS.
